It's Chock-full of useful information!

The screenshot shows a Windows Internet Explorer browser window displaying the website <http://www.state.gov/m/dghr/flo/c1959.htm>. The page title is "Family Member Employment". The breadcrumb navigation is: Home » Under Secretary for Management » Bureau of Human Resources » Family Liaison Office (FLO) » Family Member Employment.

The main content area is titled "Family Member Employment". It includes a navigation menu on the left with links such as "Looking for Something? FLO A to Z Site Map", "Family Member Employment Statistics", "Overseas - Working in a US Embassy or Consulate", "Overseas - Working on the Local Economy", "Employment for Family Members Returning to the United States", "Portable Employment Options", "Retirement and the Foreign Service Spouse", "Training / Workshops / Distance Learning", "Volunteering", "Employment Publications and Resources", and "Expanded Professional Associates Program (EPAP)".

The main text area contains the following sections:

- Family Member Employment
Like American families everywhere, many in the Foreign Service are two-income families. The Family Liaison Office (FLO) has a dedicated team of professionals working to increase employment options for Foreign Service family members, both at home and abroad.
- The Employment Program Team will advise individual family members on overseas and Washington area employment issues, either in person or via email or phone. FLO assists family members looking to work overseas on the local economy or inside a U.S. Embassy or Consulate through such programs as the Global Employment Initiative (GEI). For family members seeking employment in the Washington D.C. area, FLO provides the Job Seekers Network Group (JSNG), employment orientation sessions, and distributes The Network, with job vacancy announcements and additional resources. FLO coordinates functional training for Foreign Service family members, maintains information on training options, and provides leadership in new programs for home-based businesses and telework.

At the bottom of the main content area, it states: THIS MATERIAL IS SPECIFIC TO FOREIGN SERVICE EMPLOYEES AND THEIR FAMILIES

On the right side of the page, there is a "Stay Connected with State.gov" section with icons for Blog, Twitter, Facebook, YouTube, RSS, and Contact. Below this is a "Highlights" section with the following text: "FLO now accepting applications for the 2014-2015 Professional Development Fellowship (PDF) program." It also includes a link to "2014-2015 PDF Guidelines" and a deadline of "May 15, 2014".

Below the highlights is a "Global Opportunities for Talent Optimization (GO-TO) Job Fair" section with a "Register Today!" link. The text states: "The Family Liaison Office and the Transition Center invite eligible family members (EFMs) of the Foreign Affairs community interested in employment overseas to participate in the GO-TO Job Fair on May 2, 2014. Participate in-person or virtually from overseas. Visit the GO-TO Job Fair page for more information and to register."

At the bottom of the page, there is a "Learn More" section with a link to "New! Worldwide FAMER Report". The text states: "Are you interested in family member employment statistics at posts worldwide? Download the newest Family Member Employment Statistics Report today."

The browser status bar at the bottom shows "Local intranet | Protected Mode: Off" and a zoom level of "100%".
